NUMBER 40

CORRESPONDENCE FROM MOREHOUSE

A very interesting girls' basketball tournament was held in this city on Washington's birthday. About 400 enthusiasts put spirit and life into the game by their rooting. The Senators of Morehouse, who served dinner did a land office business, and the Sunday school children who sold candies "cleaned up". Sikeston won the first game from Dexter, 18 to 13, the rooters aiding the girls by determined rooting when things were looking blue. Morehouse dropped the second game to Diehlstadt, 22 to 9. Charleston lost to Blodgett, 4 to 8. Cape Girardeau lost to Bridges, 14 to 16. In the semi-finals Blodgett nosed out Sikeston, 14 to 13, and Diehlstadt defeated Bridges, 18 to 11. Blodgett won over Diehlstadt 12 to 11 in the finals after a very close and exciting game, winning in the last thirty seconds of play, and, incidentally, winning a fine loving cup.

Miss Verna Bratton of Sikeston spent the week-end with her sister, Miss Eva Bratton.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. Tom Daughtrey this Thursday.

Masters Warren Sarff and Harold Fisher spent the week-end visiting Jack Himmeberger at Cape Girardeau.

The Methodist church is preparing to hold a revival, which will begin the first Sunday in March and continue for a couple of weeks.

Misses Nellie Lowe, Katherine Martin and Susie Spence of the Cape normal, spent the week-end with homefolks and attended the basketball tournament.

A baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Teal on Saturday, February 23. She has been named Judith Shaeffer. Mother and babe are both doing fine.

The Baptist ladies grew a small field of cotton during 1923 on which they cleared over $200 net profit, which was sufficient to meet the annual payment of the debt on the church. They plan to grow more this year.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Glass died at the family home on Friday. Harriett Elaine Glass was born September 8, 1922, and died February 22, 1924, age 1 year, 5 months and 14 days. Funeral services were conducted at the home by Rev. R. D. Patterson on Saturday at 2 o'clock. Interment was in the Sikeston cemetery.

I. D. Trotter, Cotton Specialist of the University of Missouri, and Scott M. Julian, County Agent of New Madrid County, held a meeting at the City Hall Friday, at which Mr. Trotter explained matters of interest to cotton growers. He said, "Trice is the earliest cotton and the best for heavy land, and Acala is second earliest and the best for light land". He further stated that any claim that other varieties are earlier are false. Half and half cotton should never be grown as it is too short in staple to even be classed or recognized on the exchanges. It is what is called "Nigger" cotton.

Emory Matthews reports that he will put in a small patch of cotton this season. The small patch will consist of 1200 acres lying in Stoddard County and south of Sikeston. There will be a great number of such patches planted in this section this spring.

IDLEWILD MAN KILLS FOUR WOLVES

Four wolves were killed by one man in two days near Idlewild, according to Chas. Crabb, merchant of that place who tells the Index the following story.

A man by the name of Thompson who lives near Idlewild, killed four wolves, in two days, one was killed Sunday, and three Monday. Thompson was out in the swamp cutting timber, and ran into a bunch of wolves, six in number. He had with him a double barrel shot gun and killed two with the shells he had in his gun, and hurriedly reloading killed another as the wolf was running toward him. The other three got away. One of the wolves weighed 140 pounds.

This is the largest wolf catch made in these parts for several years by one man. Pictures were made of the catch, by Chas. Crabb—Puxico Index.

Says Bright Light And Fire Can Exterminate Boll Weevil

New Orleans, La.—Claiming that after years of study he has discovered a new method of destroying the boll weevil, E. St. Amant, a New Orleans florist, has invited Government agents, studying this enemy of the Southern cotton farmer, to make an inspection of his method.

The florist insisted that his method works like a charm. The idea is very simple, he said, and consists of placing a strong light in the center of the field at night to attract the weevils' natural impulse to fly toward the light. Around this light he would place a contrivance of his own invention, from which issues a strong fire which kills the weevil instantly.

"I have studied the weevil", continued St. Amant, "and have learned that for about one month during the life of the adult in the summer it is bothered by light—so much so that it won't work on the cotton bolls in strong moonlight.

"Working on this observation, I fixed up a fire in the field around a strong light with a contrivance that will kill the weevil the instant he reaches the light. Following my experiments I have seen them lying dead by the millions around the light.

"One light will clean them out of a field two or three acres square. I found that it will kill a lot of other pests, too. It would surprise a planter to be shown the great quantity and variety of destructive insects that are found at the base of this light after one night's operation".

The children of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Finley spent Sunday at Bertrand with their aunt, Mrs. J. O. Bebout.

Misses Pearl Hughes and Lucille Mudd spent the week-end in Cape Girardeau with Miss Mudd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Mudd.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kirk and children of St. Louis motored to Sikeston Thursday and are the guests of Mrs. Kirk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Kornegger.

Mrs. Moore Greer entertained with a 6 o'clock dinner at her home Friday evening in honor of Miss Myra Tanner, Miss Burnice Tanner, Miss Stella Shields and Miss Catherine Smith of Cairo.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Applegate, Mr. and Mrs. Moore Greer, A. C. Barrett, Miss Margaret Harris, Miss Stella Shields of Cairo and Miss Catherine Smith of Cairo, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tanner.

EUREKA VACUUM CLEANER

Over Twenty Thousand Women Bought Eureka's Last Month

Every month the supremacy of the Grand Prize Eureka Vacuum Cleaner becomes more and more apparent. Its record sale indicates the satisfaction it renders to women everywhere.

During the month of January more than twenty thousand women singled out the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner as their choice, from among seventy other possible selections.

In so doing, they clearly established the trend of public opinion, and marked the Eureka as one cleaner meeting the serious consideration of all women who contemplate the purchase of an improved electric cleaner.

This well-defined, nation-wide acceptance of the Eureka is just recognition of its remarkable cleaning power;—its simple operation;—its finer mechanical qualities;—and the greater value it represents at its extremely moderate price.

So amazing is this growing preference for the Grand Prize Eureka that the Sales for 1923 exceeded the record-making sales of 1922 by over 75,000 cleaners.

This increase alone will very probably represent thirty per cent of the total sales increase of the entire electric cleaner industry for the year—and this notwithstanding the fact that there are approximately seventy different trade-marked cleaners on the market.

Such unmistakable and sweeping acknowledgement of Eureka superiority constitutes, we believe, the most striking and decisive expression of confidence ever given by American women to any household appliance.

Moore Greer, Jr., is confined to his bed with the measles.

Miss Effie Giles of Columbia, was the week-end guest of Miss Ruby Evans.

Miss Stella Shields, who has been the guests of Mrs. Moore Greer, returned to her home at Cairo, Sunday evening.

Quite a few of the younger set attended a dance at New Madrid Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clymer chaperoned the young folks.

The Standard wishes to inform the public that the two large tires that Curley Atkinson found on the roadside south of Sikeston several weeks ago and later sold to George Dye, were the tires stolen by a negro who has been sent to the penitentiary. Mr. Atkinson gave C. L. Blanton, Jr., an advertisement of the found tires, which stated the owner could have same by proving property and paying for notice. C. L. failed to turn the copy in and Mr. Atkinson was working down in the country and supposed due notice had been given and when no one applied for them he sold them as above stated. This explanation is due Atkinson and the public.

William G. McAdoo is dry. That's why the wets are fighting him. William G. McAdoo interposed between American railway magnates and the billions they otherwise would have made while the nation was at war. That's why the great railway interests are against him. William G. McAdoo, as treasurer of the United States, sold war bonds to the masses instead of letting Eastern bankers have them at their own terms, as used to be the case. That's why the great financial interests of this nation are against him. William G. McAdoo was Woodrow Wilson's son-in-law. That's why James A. Reed is against him. The more the people study this situation the more inclined they are to love McAdoo for the enemies he has made.—Paris Appeal.

RAIN OR SNOW AND NORMAL TEMPERATURE

Washington, February 24.—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday:

Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valleys—Considerable cloudiness and probably occasional rains or snows; temperature near normal much of the week.

Mrs. Benson of De Soto was the week-end guest of her daughter, Miss Violet Benson.

Ed P. Crowe, of the Dexter Statesman, was in Sikeston Saturday evening on his way to Caruthersville, where he was billed for a talk to the Bible Class of one of the churches in that city.

Albert Shields returned from St. Louis Sunday night.

Mrs. Margaret Ashley is visiting with friends in New Madrid.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club will meet Tuesday afternoon at the City Hall. All members are urged to be present.

Miss Anna Randol was called to Oshkosh, Wis., Saturday, by a telegram stating that Mrs. Levi Cook and both her children were sick in bed in that city. Another sister, Mrs. Arthur De Smith, of Oshkosh, is in a hospital there, recovering from a siege of pneumonia.

O. W. McCutchen, Ed Fuchs, J. W. Black, M. M. Beck and Harold Hebbeler, the finance committee of the Chamber of Commerce, were out seeking new members Friday and succeeded in signing 36. Every man in Sikeston who is seeking to make Sikeston a bigger and better city should join. The dues are but $12.50 per year.

Mrs. Joe Matthews entertained the D. A. R. at her home Friday afternoon, February 22. The house was decorated for the George Washington program that was rendered. A book was read by Miss McCord, on the life of Washington, a solo by Mrs. Ruskin Cook, a quartet by Mrs. T. B. Mather, Mrs. Frank Van Horne, Miss Audrey Chaney and Miss Addie Dwyer; a story by little Miss Ann Beck. Visitors present were: Mrs. Sam Hunter and Mrs. Milton Mann of New Madrid, Mrs. Lottie Leslie of Morley, Mrs. John A. Montgomery and Mrs. Cora Crowe, of Dexter, Mrs. Scott Alexander of Charleston, Mrs. Bettie Matthews, Mrs. C. D. Matthews, Mrs. Kate Greer, Mrs. Ned Matthews, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Ruskin Cook, Mrs. J. M. Klein, Little Miss Ann Beck and Little Miss Inez Felker. At the close of the meeting a delightful course was served in the national colors. Their next meeting place will be at the home of Mrs. Walter Clymer.

Miss Lora Kem spent Sunday at Blodgett with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fox spent Sunday in Bertrand with relatives.

The Ladies Aid of the Christian Church will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. R. Harper.

J. Banks and son, Herman, of Oran, were Monday guests of the former's daughter, Mrs. Harry Lampert.

Dr. W. E. Yount and daughter, Miss Catherine, of Cape Girardeau, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Yount, Sunday.

Richard Cheatman returned Sunday night to Memphis, Tenn., after spending a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Galeener.

The Standard was honored with a visit Monday morning from I. P. Trotter, Cotton Specialist of the Missouri University of Columbia. He was accompanied by County Agent Renner.

The negro man who recently stole two tires from the car of another negro living on the F. H. Smith farm south of Sikeston, was given two years in the penitentiary at the New Madrid term of Circuit Court.

The Yanki San play that was given last Wednesday night at the Malone Theatre by the grade school, was a great success. The little folks rendered a splendid program, which was enjoyed very much by a large audience, the house having a full capacity.

Mrs. Charlotte Holmes died Saturday, February 23, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Tickle on Daniel street. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the Catholic Church, Fr. Woods officiating. Interment was made in the city cemetery.

Mrs. John A. Montgomery and Mrs. Ed P. Crowe went to Sikeston this morning to attend a Washington birthday meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Kings-highway Chapter always observes this day with special programs.—Dexter Statesman.

Miss Elizabeth Moore of the children's bureau, was a visitor to The Standard office on Tuesday of last week. It is Miss Moore's duty to select desirable homes for children also to look after children who are not having the proper care or attention. She tells us that they have at Jefferson City, a fine lot of boys and girls who the Board would be pleased to put in homes where they would have the proper care and environment to make them good citizens. Anyone who is interested can get information by writing Miss Moore, Agent Children's Bureau, Jefferson City, Mo.

We are going to install a music store in Sikeston on or about March 1st in one of the new Mayfield-Young buildings across the Iron Mountain track from the station. Our representative has been in Sikeston several times recently in connection with the matter and finds that it is almost impossible to stay on the streets of that city an hour without catching the enthusiasm which has been started by a big shoe factory and other enterprises which have followed it. What the shoe factory has done for Sikeston, the Hat Factory can do for Charleston. If we let this thing get away "woe be unto us" in a business sense.—Lair in Charleston Times.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS FROM MATTHEWS

G. D. Steele went to West Virginia Friday on a visit.

Mrs. Leon Swartz was a New Madrid visitor Thursday.

Mrs. Thos. Holderby of New Madrid was in Matthews Wednesday.

Joe Matthews of Sikeston was in Matthews Wednesday on business.

W. H. Deane and son, Alfred, motored to Morehouse Wednesday on business.

Mrs. G. D. Steele and Miss Flo King shopped in St. Louis Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Lurmit and Miss Frankie Deane of New Madrid spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Deane.

John Gossitt, Jr., was called from Memphis, Tenn., Wednesday to the bedside of his father, John Gossitt, Sr., who is very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Loy Roberts entertained the high school and 7th and 7th grade students with a party Friday evening. The evening was most delightfully spent in playing games of various kinds and dancing. At a late hour an elegant 2-course luncheon was served.

Mrs. Nellie Wilson and babes returned to their home in St. Louis Sunday. She was accompanied by her aunt from Kentucky, who has been at this place visiting the past few weeks. Also her sister, Mrs. Florence Woodard accompanied her. Mrs. Wilson has been visiting with her father, J. A. Alsop for the past three months.

Edgar White returned Sunday night from St. Louis.

Miles Oakley of Mill Shoals, Ill., was the guest of Mrs. John Butler and Miss Katherine, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Sartain and children of Vanduser, left Monday afternoon for Chattanooga, Tenn., to make their home. Mrs. Sartain is a sister of Miss Pearl Hughes.

Charles Darr, who died February 17, was a member of the Sikeston Mutual Association and had paid in $3.40. His insurance benefit was $100 which was paid on the 19th. It was a mighty good investment.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Kornegger and children of Puxico, were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Kornegger. Mrs. Kornegger returned to Puxico, Sunday, while Mr. Kornegger and children will remain for a few days.

The Standard regrets to hear of the illness of Jake Sitze, who has the pneumonia. Jake is one of the best farmers and citizens of this community and we hope for his speedy recovery. He was resting easy Monday forenoon.

Recently Shreveport, La., put on a big athletic event, the main attraction was to be a 10-round go between Jack Dempsey and another pug, Otis Bryant of Sikeston was to be in one of the preliminaries. For some reason the opponent of Dempsey failed to show up and Dempsey agreed to spar with a lesser light 4 rounds. He smacked the light out in 3 rounds without any effort. The pug who was to go against Otis backed out at the last moment and Dempsey got Otis in the ring with him. Otis stayed the 4 rounds, but we suppose Dempsey played with him in order to entertain the people who paid their admission. A few night ago Otis won a 10-round bout at Hot Springs. The Standard is glad to hear that our local lad is back on his feet again and we hope for his success.

Business must be good for the rum fleet as the dry vessels report 168 off the shore of the United States in the Atlantic. Only 5 per cent of the illicit smuggling has been interfered with so the report says. Modify the Volstead Act and give us light wines and 4 per cent beer and a lot of money will be saved that goes to foreigners for mean whiskey.

The Herald editor does not claim to know much about managing negroes. Certainly he does not know what transpires within the rooms of any negroes dives in the town, but he believes that a white man who pays the fine of a negro to relieve the latter of a just punishment isn't a much better citizen than the negro himself. If the negro violator of the law is such a bad fellow as some folks claim he is, let him sweep the streets a while. It may improve his conduct. It certainly won't help him any for "marse" white man to pay his fine.—Sikeston Herald.

SAYS REED IS IN RACE TO PAY DEBT TO G. O. P.

St. Louis, Feb. 22.—Charges that Senator Reed's candidacy for the presidency is born of a desire to split the Democracy of Missouri in the forthcoming election of State officers in repayment for the help given by Republicans in nomination Reed for the United States Senate in 1922, are made by McAdoo headquarters in a statement by A. J. Hawkins of Eminence, Mo., a former treasurer of the Democratic State Committee.

Hawkins declared that "the Democrats of rural Missouri are not taking the candidacy of Mr. Reed very seriously. Many of them entertain the opinion that he entered the race merely to carry out an understanding with the Republican machine of two years ago that if the Republicans would support him in 1922 for Senator, he would split the Democratic party for them in the State in 1924.

"Personally, I think there are grounds for such an opinion because his refusal to respect the attempt that was made by the Democratic press and leading Democrats from all parts of the State to harmonize party differences is sufficient evidence that he would rather help the Republicans carry the State of Missouri than to have harmony in the Democratic ranks.

"We realize, as thousands of other Democrats do throughout the State, that Senator Reed has no chance whatever of getting the Democratic nomination, but is simply in the race playing his usual role of disturber."

This feeling is intensified, according to C. C. Oliver, McAdoo headquarters manager, by reports being received from anti-Reed men and women throughout the State, of threats by Reed workers that unless the Senator is given the Missouri delegation to the Democratic National Convention, "candidates for State offices had better watch out in November."

"If Senator Reed and his friends are 'bolters' the sooner the Democratic party finds it out the better," said Oliver.

"The Reed policy seems to be 'rule or ruin' and we have worried along with it quite a while now. It has to end some time, for the Democratic party will not continue to listen always to a man who thinks he is bigger than it."

The McAdoo people also made public statements from Senator W. A. Brookshire of Farmington and John D. Blackwell of Fayette, secretary of the Missouri Aberdeen-Angus Association, endorsing their candidate.

Brookshire said that he, with a great majority of the Democrats in his section, regards McAdoo as the outstanding Democrat in America today, that Democrats have a most favorable opportunity to win this year and that "We must, therefore, have a man who is a genuine Democrat, a true American and one with a spirit of international co-operation."

Blackwell declared that "The policies of Woodrow Wilson will not be repudiated by the Democrats in Howard County, if I know them."

Reed headquarters have announced two more speaking dates for the Senator, one at Mexico on March 4 and the other at Fayette, March 5.

Reed is scheduled to arrive here this morning. He will make a non-political speech tonight at a dinner given by accountants at the Claridge Hotel, and will speak at the City Club at 1 p. m. Monday and at the Pershing Theatre Monday night, departing then for a swing through the State.

MOTORISTS TO HELP MAKE ROADS SAFE

Major A. A. Stewart, of New York City, recently formed what is known as the Argus Association, composed of motorists all over the country who are willing to take the pledges of the association as to safe driving. These pledges are:

1. To be always ready for any emergency by keeping my eyes on the road and my thoughts on what I am doing.
2. To particularly watch out for curves, crossings, and bridges.
3. To always keep my car under perfect control.
4. To keep the brakes and steering gear in good working order.
5. Never to stop or slow down without signaling to the driver of the car behind.
6. Never to take a turn without care and warning to drivers of other cars.
7. Never to cut off another car unless I am positive that there is ample space.
8. Never to stop in a narrow place on the road if by doing so I inconvenience the drivers of other cars.
9. Never to start out from the curb without making sure that the road is clear.
10. To consider the safety and comfort of the other car's occupants as well as my own.
11. Never to try to save a minute or two of time if by doing so I am risking the life of a human being.
12. To obey all the rules of the road as laid down by law or common sense.

If I do not drive my own car, to require my chauffeur or members of my family to live up to these principles.

14. To be always careful, vigilant, courteous, and thoughtful—a gentleman of the highway.

More than 12,000 motorists are stated to have taken this pledge.

Are You An Intelligent Eater?

That old-fashioned harbinger of spring, the spring tonic, has been crowded off the medicine shelf of late by its rival, the green vegetable. More and more it is realized that we develop and maintain good health through the intelligent selection of food.

The idea of maintaining health thru the three-meals-a-day method is by no means new. Such has been the aim of the Fletcherists, the vegetarians, the calorie counters, and other followers of health and diet cults. But today the "intelligent eater" follows the dietary regime outlined by the specialist in nutrition. These experts, through research and experiment sponsored by the foremost medical schools of the country, have found certain foods essential to the daily diet of the man or woman who wishes to hold on to health, and consequently good looks and mental and physical fitness, through the aid of the food he eats. The essentials are striking in their simplicity, but their importance cannot be overestimated. Consider these suggestions:

Drink at least one pint of milk each day. Eat one raw and two cooked vegetables, one raw and one cooked fruit, some whole wheat bread or other whole grain cereal every day. Drink plenty of water.

Milk contains phosphorous and calcium or lime, two minerals which make up bone and teeth. Plenty of calcium will keep the gums and teeth in good condition, thereby eliminating trips to the dentist. It is difficult to secure enough calcium in the daily menu without plenty of milk because no other food contains it in such large quantities.

Milk also contains those vitamins which promote health growth and vitality, and those which prevent and cure disease. A portion of the day's supply of milk should be taken raw, as the vitamins are most effective in the raw product. The remainder may be eaten as cream soup, puddings, ice cream, custard pie, cocoa, creamed vegetables, milk and cream on breakfast cereals, and even as chocolate milkshakes at the corner drug store.

Raw fruits and vegetables are splendid sources of vitamins. They also contain a bulky material called cellulose which stimulates the digestive tract to greater activity, and aids the tremendously important work of removing waste material. This cellulose or fiber material acts as a kind of broom which sweeps out the digestive tract, and keeps it clean and in good order.

The best and most easily obtained raw fruits are oranges and apples with grapefruit lemons, strawberries, and the other juicy fruits following close behind. Cooked fruits include dried prunes, apricots, peaches, and all of the canned fruits. Raisins, dates and figs are both appetizing and valuable. Head and leaf lettuce, cabbage and celery held the list of raw vegetables. They are moderate in price and can be obtained throughout the year. Shredded raw carrots can be used to good advantage in salads, and in season, fresh tomatoes, and cucumbers and radishes lengthen the list of raw vegetables.

Cooked fruits and vegetables contain cellulose in a softer and less effective form than the raw ones. But both raw and cooked, they are important sources of iron and other minerals which keep the blood in good condition, thereby improving the appearance of skin, eyes and hair. Minerals also aid the digestive processes and enable the other foods to do their best work in nourishing the body. Spinach and Swiss chard are the most valuable cooked vegetables because of their high mineral content. Then come cabbage, cauliflower, string beans, asparagus, carrots, beets, turnips, onions, and squash. All vegetables should be cooked in small quantities of water so that, by the time the vegetable is tender, most of the water will have been absorbed. Some valuable minerals dissolve out into the water, and are wasted when the vegetables are drained.

Whole wheat bread contains outer coatings of the wheat kernel in which are found both mineral and cellulose. These are lost when white bread is used, because the outer coatings of the kernel are all removed during the manufacture of white flour. If the habit of eating white bread is firmly entrenched, try eating whole wheat at one meal during the day. A taste for it is soon acquired. Oatmeal and other whole grain breakfast cereals are beneficial along the same lines as whole wheat bread.

Drink plenty of water when you get up in the morning and frequently during the day. It aids digestion and elimination of waste materials. It is as important to provide the body with water for an internal bath as it is for an external one.

Drink milk. Eat foods made with milk. Eat raw and cooked fruits and vegetables. Eat whole wheat bread. Drink seven or eight glasses of water each day. Select the other foods according to the dictates of your appetite. These are signposts along the high road of health through intelligent eating.—K. C. tSar.

Millarde Director "Governor's Lady" From Belasco Play

The screen version of David Belasco's stage success, "The Governor's Lady," has been made into a special production for William Fox by Harry Millarde, the man who made "Over the Hill," and "If Winter Comes."

On the stage the play was a tremendous success and enjoyed an unusually long run. "The Governor's Lady," from the pen of Alice Bradley, is a powerful story, dealing with all the romantic growth of a man who completes his education through his work and contact with big people. His wife is slow in adapting herself to his rapid development. This situation brings out a series of intensely dramatic incidents that have been presented forcefully in the picture.

The story is one that has its parallel in real life, not only in political circles but in the lives of big business executives and professional men. "Its fidelity to life is photographic," said the critics, following the Broadway production of the play. The same was said and written when the production went on the road.

The cast includes Robert T. Haines

in the role of the Governor and Jane Grey in the title role. Other principals are Ann Luther, Frazer Coulter and Leslie Austen. "The Governor's Lady" comes to the Malone Theatre Friday.

Nobody in Washington understands why Senators Johnson and Reed are nursing presidential dreams. Neither infant has the slightest chance to grow out of long clothes, or if either has that chance nobody in Washington knows anything about it. The Senate in session resembles a mass meeting of presidential candidates. There are four Senators—Underwood, Reed, Johnson and Glass—avowedly running, and three others supposed to have the bee in their bonnets. Of these last at least one, Senator La Follette, is likely to lead a third party. Of the other two, Senators Copeland and Walsh, the former at least is known to have his lightning rod up in the quiet confidence that Jove can hardly find anything else to shoot at. Like Senators Reed and Johnson, Senator Copeland, who is from New York, has the support of Hearst. It is supposed that in this, as usual, Hearst is following his custom here of working not merely both sides of the street but the street car track.—Clark McAdams in Post-Dispatch

The more people there are in Sikeston who own their own homes, the better place this will be in which to live. In any home-owning community, property values increase, living conditions improve and the entire district advances, for home-owners take a personal interest and pride in keeping their homes neat and attractive. Hence we feel that the Standard is supporting a movement that is of interest to every resident and property owner in Sikeston, when we editorially ask every home owner to try and influence at least one of their friends who is not a home owner to become one.

It will mean increased prosperity for all. It will create new business. It will stabilize and increase the efficiency of those who must labor for a living and it will be advantageous to those whose investment interests are centered here.

So, let us all join hands and make this a community of home owners—a city of homes.

Fox Favorite Is Seen as Pugnacious Pugilist in "Big Dan"

Social peculiarities and fistic muscularities furnish Charles Jones' most recent William Fox production, "Big Dan" with a speedometer whose average register breaks even that lightning star's record for speed. It is announced as the feature attraction of the Malone Theatre Saturday.

Nothing seems more appropriate than a ringside background for Chas. Jones. The tall, broad and square-jawed star seems to fit adequately a pugilistic setting. This is provided for him in "Big Dan", whose titular role he takes modestly.

Dan receives a patrimony of a gymnasium and a training camp, all the worldly possessions left behind by his famous pugilist father. Upon returning from service in France, Dan finds that his wife has deserted him. He transforms his country training camp into an outdoor school for boys. Tired of coaching prize-fighters, he remains at his training camp, drowning his sorrow in work. He does not hear from his wife, Nellie.

Through a gruesome tragedy he meets a young, distressed girl. He falls in love with her, but is prevented from declaring himself because of his unfortunate marital experience. "Cyclone", a typically hard-boiled lesser light in fightdom, prevails on Dan to train him for a big fight. Dan assents and is furious, later, when he finds "Cyclone" making love to Dora, under whose love he lives. Dan and "Cyclone" finally meet in the ring and one of the fastest and most thrilling battles ever seen on the screen ensues.

The cast of this unique Charles Jones production includes Marion Nixon, Ben Hendricks, Tribby Clark, Jackie Gadsdon, Charles Coleman, Harry Lonsdale, J. P. Lockney and Jack Herrick.

Mr. Lehman, of Lehman-Foster Co. Co., returned Sunday night from St. Louis, where he had been on business for the store.

Despite her 70 years of age, Mrs. M. J. Mickelson of Sugar Grove, Pa., has just taken out her 1924 fishing license, just as she has done every year since the system was introduced in Pennsylvania.

The old Pullman car fish-net hammock is being replaced in the new cars with a rack designed to occupy the same position above the berth as did the hammock. The rack will hold clothing flat and prevent wrinkling. It is made in skeleton form of one-inch green belting and is fastened to either end of the berth by hooks. It folds back flat when not in use.

Texas Lady Says Her Family Has Been Taking Thedford's Black-Draught, When Needed, for Many Years.

Alto, Texas.—"We inherited the use of Black-Draught in our family," says Mrs. Mary Shuptrine, who lives near here on R. F. D. 2. "My grandmother was an old woman when she died about ten years ago, and she had been using it literally ever since I can remember. She gave it to her children and grandchildren for biliousness and stomach complaints, so when I went to housekeeping we just naturally used it, too."

"I give it to my children for a purgative whenever they need one, and we are never without it. Made into tea, it surely is fine. It's the best home remedy for headache and constipation I know of."

During over 80 years of its continued popularity, Black-Draught has become the standard liver medicine in many thousands of homes, where it has been found of great benefit in the treatment of constipation, biliousness, indigestion and other common liver, stomach and bowel complaints. Ten million packages of Black-Draught are now sold a year, as more and more people are learning of the value of this well-known remedy.

Insist on Thedford's, the only genuine Black-Draught powdered liver medicine. At all dealers. NC-154

REINDEER TO BE CROSSED WITH WILD ALASKAN CARIBOU
There are probably about 250,000 reindeer in Alaska, and it is expected that the reindeer herds will become the basis of an important future industry of the Territory. The Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture has undertaken to encourage the industry by studying the diseases of the reindeer, food and range problems, methods of handling, and particularly the improvement of the herds in size, vigor, and meat producing qualities.
The Biological Survey, Olaus J. Murie, has spent the past three years investigating the caribou herds in northern Alaska, with a view to locating the large-sized caribou in order to capture bulls for crossing with the reindeer. As reindeer are, in fact, domesticated caribou, it is expected that herds can be greatly strengthened in this way.
In addition to studies of the caribou, Mr. Murie has made investigations of wild game conditions and of conditions pertaining to land fur-bearing animals. He has made trips by dog sled inland, covering country through which few white men have been, often accompanied by only one assistant. He is preparing a report on the results of his investigations, which will be of interest to those connected with the growing reindeer industry.

Georgia is to have an extension forester, according to word received by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture. The man selected by the College of Agriculture for the position is Due Pre Barrett, who for the past three years has been a teacher in the forest school at the college, in charge of the subjects of logging and utilization. Mr. Barrett will begin his new duties July 1.
The important part the 17 national forests in California play in the recreational activities and outdoor life of that State is emphatically illustrated by the fact that these Federal-owned forests were used by 4,336,700 persons during 1923, announces the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture. These figures are based on careful estimates and checks made by more than 1000 forest rangers and other Federal officials in co-operation with automobile associations, railroads, stage companies, and hotel managers.
An outbreak of rabies among coyotes, bobcats and dogs exists in Colorado, on the southern end of the San Isabel Forest and adjacent areas. This is the first time the diseases has made its appearance in the State since the inauguration of predatory animal control and eradication work. Up to the middle of January approximately $4000 worth of livestock has been killed in this section from attacks of rabid predatory animals or dogs and four persons have been bitten. To check the spread of the disease a systematic eradication campaign against all predatory animals and stray dogs is being carried out by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with State and local organizations. Three hunters and one biological assistant have been placed in this area and more hunters will be added if necessary. A fourth hunter has been detailed to prevent the spread of the disease eastward to Pueblo.

Forty-two per cent of the farmers feel that their financial difficulties are due to low prices of farm products, the United States Department of Agriculture says. Seventeen per cent attribute their condition to high taxes; 11 per cent to high costs for farm labor; 10 per cent to high freight rates; 10 per cent to high interest rates; 6 per cent to reckless expenditures during the boom period; and 4 per cent to too much credit.

Hours for Sale and You Can Have Them
How often have you seen women who lost themselves in the routine of housework until they were complete strangers to the thoughts of those about them? The world has passed them by; their families have grown up only to grow away. They need time—time to remain the companion of the husband and the "pal" of the children. And Time is exactly what our laundry offers. It does more than the mere washing of clothes—it brings new hours, new days, new leisure in which to really live.
The laundry is not only a time saver—it saves fatigue and worry, too. And more than 2,000,000 women testify to its reliability and the high quality of its work. To every home is offered a service suited to its needs and its income; for every woman washday hours can be largely or entirely eliminated. And these hours saved from housekeeping can be more wisely invested in home-making.
Our laundry has "Hours for Sale"—and you can have them.

CORRESPONDENCE FROM MOREHOUSE

A very interesting girls' basketball tournament was held in this city on Washington's birthday. About 400 enthusiasts put spirit and life into the game by their rooting. The Senators of Morehouse, who served dinner did a land office business, and the Sunday school children who sold candies "cleaned up". Sikeston won the first game from Dexter, 18 to 13, the rooters aiding the girls by determined rooting when things were looking blue. Morehouse dropped the second game to Diehlstadt, 22 to 9. Charleston lost to Blodgett, 4 to 8. Cape Girardeau lost to Bridges, 14 to 16. In the semi-finals Blodgett nosed out Sikeston, 14 to 13, and Diehlstadt defeated Bridges, 18 to 11. Blodgett won over Diehlstadt 12 to 11 in the finals after a very close and exciting game, winning in the last thirty seconds of play, and, incidentally, winning a fine loving cup.

Miss Verna Bratton of Sikeston spent the week-end with her sister, Miss Eva Bratton.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. Tom Daughtrey this Thursday.

Masters Warren Sarff and Harold Fisher spent the week-end visiting Jack Himmeberger at Cape Girardeau.

The Methodist church is preparing to hold a revival, which will begin the first Sunday in March and continue for a couple of weeks.

Misses Nellie Lowe, Katherine Martin and Susie Spence of the Cape normal, spent the week-end with homefolks and attended the basketball tournament.

A baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Teal on Saturday, February 23. She has been named Judith Shaeffer. Mother and babe are both doing fine.

The Baptist ladies grew a small field of cotton during 1923 on which they cleared over $200 net profit, which was sufficient to meet the annual payment of the debt on the church. They plan to grow more this year.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Glass died at the family home on Friday. Harriett Elaine Glass was born September 8, 1922, and died February 22, 1924, age 1 year, 5 months and 14 days. Funeral services were conducted at the home by Rev. R. D. Patterson on Saturday at 2 o'clock. Interment was in the Sikeston cemetery.

I. D. Trotter, Cotton Specialist of the University of Missouri, and Scott M. Julian, County Agent of New Madrid County, held a meeting at the City Hall Friday, at which Mr. Trotter explained matters of interest to cotton growers. He said, "Trice is the earliest cotton and the best for heavy land, and Acala is second earliest and the best for light land". He further stated that any claim that other varieties are earlier are false. Half and half cotton should never be grown as it is too short in staple to even be classed or recognized on the exchanges. It is what is called "Nigger" cotton.

Emory Matthews reports that he will put in a small patch of cotton this season. The small patch will consist of 1200 acres lying in Stoddard County and south of Sikeston. There will be a great number of such patches planted in this section this spring.

IDLEWILD MAN KILLS FOUR WOLVES

Four wolves were killed by one man in two days near Idlewild, according to Chas. Crabb, merchant of that place who tells the Index the following story.

A man by the name of Thompson who lives near Idlewild, killed four wolves, in two days, one was killed Sunday, and three Monday. Thompson was out in the swamp cutting timber, and ran into a bunch of wolves, six in number. He had with him a double barrel shot gun and killed two with the shells he had in his gun, and hurriedly reloading killed another as the wolf was running toward him. The other three got away. One of the wolves weighed 140 pounds.

This is the largest wolf catch made in these parts for several years by one man. Pictures were made of the catch, by Chas. Crabb.—Puxico Index.

Says Bright Light And Fire Can Exterminate Boll Weevil

New Orleans, La.—Claiming that after years of study he has discovered a new method of destroying the boll weevil, E. St. Amant, a New Orleans florist, has invited Government agents, studying this enemy of the Southern cotton farmer, to make an inspection of his method.

The florist insisted that his method works like a charm. The idea is very simple, he said, and consists of placing a strong light in the center of the field at night to attract the weevils' natural impulse to fly toward the light. Around this light he would place a contrivance of his own invention, from which issues a strong fire which kills the weevil instantly.

"I have studied the weevil", continued St. Amant, "and have learned that for about one month during the life of the adult in the summer it is bothered by light—so much so that it won't work on the cotton bolls in strong moonlight."

"Working on this observation, I fixed up a fire in the field around a strong light with a contrivance that will kill the weevil the instant he reaches the light. Following my experiments I have seen them lying dead by the millions around the light. "One light will clean them out of a field two or three acres square. I found that it will kill a lot of other pests, too. It would surprise a planter to be shown the great quantity and variety of destructive insects that are found at the base of this light after one night's operation."

The children of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Finley spent Sunday at Bertrand with their aunt, Mrs. J. O. Bebout.

Misses Pearl Hughes and Lucille Mudd spent the week-end in Cape Girardeau with Miss Mudd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Mudd.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kirk and children of St. Louis motored to Sikeston Thursday and are the guests of Mrs. Kirk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Kornegger.

Mrs. Moore Greer entertained with a 6 o'clock dinner at her home Friday evening in honor of Miss Myra Tanner, Miss Burnice Tanner, Miss Stella Shields and Miss Catherine Smith of Cairo.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Applegate, Mr. and Mrs. Moore Greer, A. C. Barrett, Miss Margaret Harris, Miss Stella Shields of Cairo and Miss Catherine Smith of Cairo, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tanner.

Over Twenty Thousand Women Bought Eureka's Last Month

Every month the supremacy of the Grand Prize Eureka Vacuum Cleaner becomes more and more apparent. Its record sale indicates the satisfaction it renders to women everywhere.

During the month of January more than twenty thousand women singled out the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner as their choice, from among seventy other possible selections.

In so doing, they clearly established the trend of public opinion, and marked the Eureka as one cleaner meeting the serious consideration of all women who contemplate the purchase of an improved electric cleaner.

This well-defined, nation-wide acceptance of the Eureka is just recognition of its remarkable cleaning power;—its simple operation;—its finer mechanical qualities;—and the greater value it represents at its extremely moderate price.

So amazing is this growing preference for the Grand Prize Eureka that the Sales for 1923 exceeded the record-making sales of 1922 by over 75,000 cleaners.

This increase alone will very probably represent thirty per cent of the total sales increase of the entire electric cleaner industry for the year—and this notwithstanding the fact that there are approximately seventy different trade-marked cleaners on the market.

Such unmistakable and sweeping acknowledgement of Eureka superiority constitutes, we believe, the most striking and decisive expression of confidence ever given by American women to any household appliance.

The Standard wishes to inform the public that the two large tires that Curley Atkinson found on the roadside south of Sikeston several weeks ago and later sold to George Dye, were the tires stolen by a negro who has been sent to the penitentiary. Mr. Atkinson gave C. L. Blanton, Jr., an advertisement of the found tires, which stated the owner could have same by proving property and paying for notice. C. L. failed to turn the copy in and Mr. Atkinson was working down in the country and supposed due notice had been given and when no one applied for them he sold them as above stated. This explanation is due Atkinson and the public.

William G. McAdoo is dry. That's why the wets are fighting him. William G. McAdoo interposed between American railway magnates and the billions they otherwise would have made while the nation was at war. That's why the great railway interests are against him. William G. McAdoo, as treasurer of the United States, sold war bonds to the masses instead of letting Eastern bankers have them at their own terms, as used to be the case. That's why the great financial interests of this nation are against him. William G. McAdoo was Woodrow Wilson's son-in-law. That's why James A. Reed is against him. The more the people study this situation the more inclined they are to love McAdoo for the enemies he has made.—Paris Appeal.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club will meet Tuesday afternoon at the City Hall. All members are urged to be present.

Miss Anna Randol was called to Oshkosh, Wis., Saturday, by a telegram stating that Mrs. Levi Cook and both her children were sick in bed in that city. Another sister, Mrs. Arthur De Schmidt, of Oshkosh, is in a hospital there, recovering from a siege of pneumonia.

O. W. McCutchen, Ed Fuchs, J. W. Black, M. M. Beck and Harold Hebbeler, the finance committee of the Chamber of Commerce, were out seeking new members Friday and succeeded in signing 36. Every man in Sikeston who is seeking to make Sikeston a bigger and better city should join. The dues are but $12.50 per year.

Mrs. Joe Matthews entertained the D. A. R. at her home Friday afternoon, February 22. The house was decorated for the George Washington program that was rendered. A book was read by Miss McCord, on the life of Washington, a solo by Mrs. Ruskin Cook, a quartet by Mrs. T. B. Mather, Mrs. Frank Van Horne, Miss Audrey Chaney and Miss Addie Dover; a story by Little Miss Ann Beck. Visitors present were: Mrs. Sam Hunter and Mrs. Milton Mann of New Madrid, Mrs. Lottie Leslie of Morley, Mrs. John A. Montgomery and Mrs. Cora Crowe, of Dexter, Mrs. Scott Alexander of Charleston, Mrs. Bettie Matthews, Mrs. C. D. Matthews, Mrs. Kate Greer, Mrs. Ned Matthews, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Ruskin Cook, Mrs. J. M. Klein, Little Miss Ann Beck and Little Miss Inez Felker. At the close of the meeting a delightful course was served in the national colors. Their next meeting place will be at the home of Mrs. Walter Clymer.

Richard Cheatman returned Sunday night to Memphis, Tenn., after spending a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Galeener.

The Standard was honored with a visit Monday morning from I. P. Trotter, Cotton Specialist of the Missouri University of Columbia. He was accompanied by County Agent Renner.

The negro man who recently stole two tires from the car of another negro living on the F. H. Smith farm south of Sikeston, was given two years in the penitentiary at the New Madrid term of Circuit Court.

The Yanki San play that was given last Wednesday night at the Malone Theatre by the grade school, was a great success. The little folks rendered a splendid program, which was enjoyed very much by a large audience, the house having a full capacity.

Mrs. Charlotte Holmes died Saturday, February 23, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Tickle on Daniel street. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the Catholic Church, Fr. Woods officiating. Interment was made in the city cemetery.

Mrs. John A. Montgomery and Mrs. Ed P. Crowe went to Sikeston this morning to attend a Washington birthday meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Kingshighway Chapter always observes this day with special programs.—Dexter Statesman.

Miss Elizabeth Moore of the children's bureau, was a visitor to The Standard office on Tuesday of last week. It is Miss Moore's duty to select desirable homes for children also to look after children who are not having the proper care or attention. She tells us that they have at Jefferson City, a fine lot of boys and girls who the Board would be pleased to put in homes where they would have the proper care and environment to make them good citizens. Anyone who is interested can get information by writing Miss Moore, Agent Children's Bureau, Jefferson City, Mo.

We are going to install a music store in Sikeston on or about March 1st in one of the new Mayfield-Young buildings across the Iron Mountain track from the station. Our representative has been in Sikeston several times recently in connection with the matter and finds that it is almost impossible to stay on the streets of that city an hour without catching the enthusiasm which has been started by a big shoe factory and other enterprises which have followed it. What the shoe factory has done for Sikeston, the Hat Factory can do for Charleston. If we let this thing get away "woe be unto us" in a business sense.—Lair in Charleston Times.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS FROM MATTHEWS

G. D. Steele went to West Virginia Friday on a visit.

Mrs. Leon Swartz was a New Madrid visitor Thursday.

Mrs. Thos. Holderby of New Madrid was in Matthews Wednesday.

Mrs. G. D. Steele and Miss Flo King shopped in St. Louis Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Lurmit and Miss Frankie Deane of New Madrid spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Deane.

Mr. and Mrs. Loy Roberts entertained the high school and 7th and 8th grade students with a party Friday evening. The evening was most delightfully spent in playing games of various kinds and dancing. At a late hour an elegant 2-course luncheon was served.

Mrs. Nellie Wilson and babes returned to their home in St. Louis Sunday. She was accompanied by her aunt from Kentucky, who has been at this place visiting the past few weeks. Also her sister, Mrs. Florence Woodard accompanied her. Mrs. Wilson has been visiting with her father, J. A. Alsop for the past three months.

Edgar White returned Sunday night from St. Louis.

Miles Oakley of Mill Shoals, Ill., was the guest of Mrs. John Butler and Miss Katherine, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Sartain and children of Vanduser, left Monday afternoon for Chattanooga, Tenn., to make their home. Mrs. Sartain is a sister of Miss Pearl Hughes.

Charles Darr, who died February 17, was a member of the Sikeston Mutual Association and had paid in $3.40. His insurance benefit was $100 which was paid on the 19th. It was a mighty good investment.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Kornegger and children of Puxico, were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Kornegger. Mrs. Kornegger returned to Puxico, Sunday, while Mr. Kornegger and children will remain for a few days.

The Standard regrets to hear of the illness of Jake Sitze, who has the pneumonia. Jake is one of the best farmers and citizens of this community and we hope for his speedy recovery. He was resting easy Monday forenoon.

Recently Shreveport, La., put on a big athletic event, the main attraction was to be a 10-round go between Jack Dempsey and another pug, Otis Bryant of Sikeston was to be in one of the preliminaries. For some reason the opponent of Dempsey failed to show up and Dempsey agreed to spar with a lesser light 4 rounds. He smacked the light out in 3 rounds without any effort. The pug who was to go against Otis backed out at the last moment and Dempsey got Otis in the ring with him. Otis stayed the 4 rounds, but we suppose Dempsey played with him in order to entertain the people who paid their admission. A few night ago Otis won a 10-round bout at Hot Springs. The Standard is glad to hear that our local lad is back on his feet again and we hope for his success.

Sikeston Herald.SAYS REED IS IN RACE
TO PAY DEBT TO G. O. P.St. Louis, Feb. 22.—Charges that Senator Reed's candidacy for the presidency is born of a desire to split the Democracy of Missouri in the forthcoming election of State officers in repayment for the help given by Republicans in nomination Reed for the United States Senate in 1922, are made by McAdoo headquarters in a statement by A. J. Hawkins of Eminence, Mo., a former treasurer of the Democratic State Committee.Hawkins declared that "the Democrats of rural Missouri are not taking the candidacy of Mr. Reed very seriously. Many of them entertain the opinion that he entered the race merely to carry out an understanding with the Republican machine of two years ago that if the Republicans would support him in 1922 for Senator, he would split the Democratic party for them in the State in 1924."Personally, I think there are grounds for such an opinion because his refusal to respect the attempt that was made by the Democratic press and leading Democrats from all parts of the State to harmonize party differences is sufficient evidence that he would rather help the Republicans carry the State of Missouri than to have harmony in the Democratic ranks."We realize, as thousands of other Democrats do throughout the State, that Senator Reed has no chance whatever of getting the Democratic nomination, but is simply in the race playing his usual role of disturber."This feeling is intensified, according to C. C. Oliver, McAdoo headquarter's manager, by reports being received from anti-Reed men and women throughout the State, of threats by Reed workers that unless the Senator is given the Missouri delegation to the Democratic National Convention, "candidates for State offices had better watch out in November.""If Senator Reed and his friends are 'bolters' the sooner the Democratic party finds it out the better,"
said Oliver."The Reed policy seems to be 'rule or ruin' and we have worried along with it quite a while now. It has to end some time, for the Democratic party will not continue to listen always to a man who thinks he is bigger than it."The McAdoo people also made public statements from Senator W. A.
Brookshire of Farmington and John D. Blackwell of Fayette, secretary of the Missouri Aberdeen-Angus Association, indorsing their candidate.Brookshire said that he, with a great majority of the Democrats in his section, regards McAdoo as the outstanding Democrat in America today, that Democrats have a most favorable opportunity to win this year and that "We must, therefore, have a man who is a genuine Democrat, a true American and one with a spirit of international co-operation."Blackwell declared that "The policies of Woodrow Wilson will not be repudiated by the Democrats in Howard County, if I know them."Reed headquarters have announced two more speaking dates for the Senator, one at Mexico on March 4 and the other at Fayette, March 5.Reed is scheduled to arrive here this morning. He will make a non-political speech tonight at a dinner given by accountants at the Claridge
Hotel, and will speak at the City Club at 1 p. m. Monday and at the Pershing Theatre Monday night, departing then for a swing through the State.

Are You An Intelligent Eater?

That old-fashioned harbinger of spring, the spring tonic, has been crowded off the medicine shelf of late by its rival, the green vegetable.
More and more it is realized that we develop and maintain good health through the intelligent selection of food.The idea of maintaining health thru the three-meals-a-day method is by no means new. Such has been the aim of the Fletcherists, the vegetarians, the calorie counters, and other followers of health and diet cults.
But today the "intelligent eater" follows the dietary regime outlined by the specialist in nutrition. These experts, through research and experiment sponsored by the foremost medical schools of the country, have found certain foods essential to the daily diet of the man or woman who wishes to hold on to health, and consequently good looks and mental and physical fitness, through the aid of the food he eats. The essentials are striking in their simplicity, but their importance cannot be overestimated.Consider these suggestions:
Drink at least one pint of milk
each day. Eat one raw and two cooked vegetables, one raw and one cooked fruit, some whole wheat bread or other whole grain cereal every day.
Drink plenty of water.Milk contains phosphorus and calcium or lime, two minerals which make up bone and teeth. Plenty of calcium will keep the gums and teeth in good condition, thereby eliminating trips to the dentist. It is difficult to secure enough calcium in the daily menu without plenty of milk because no other food contains it in such large quantities.Milk also contains those vitamins which promote health growth and vitality, and those which prevent and cure disease. A portion of the day's supply of milk should be taken raw, as the vitamins are most effective in the raw product. The remainder may be eaten as cream soup, puddings, ice cream, custard pie, cocoa, creamed vegetables, milk and cream on breakfast cereals, and even as chocolate milkshakes at the corner drug store.Raw fruits and vegetables are splendid sources of vitamins. They also contain a bulky material called cellulose which stimulates the digestive tract to greater activity, and aids the tremendously important work of removing waste material.
This cellulose or fiber material acts as a kind of broom which sweeps out the digestive tract, and keeps it clean and in good order.The best and most easily obtained raw fruits are oranges and apples with grapefruit lemons, strawberries, and the other juicy fruits following close behind. Cooked fruits include dried prunes, apricots, peaches, and all of the canned fruits. Raisins, dates and figs are both appetizing and valuable. Head and leaf lettuce, cabbage and celery held the list of raw vegetables. They are moderate in price and can be obtained through-out the year. Shredded raw carrots can be used to good advantage in salads, and in season, fresh tomatoes, and cucumbers and radishes lengthen
the list of raw vegetables.Cooked fruits and vegetables contain cellulose in a softer and less effective form than the raw ones. But both raw and cooked, they are important sources of iron and other minerals which keep the blood in good condition, thereby improving the appearance of skin, eyes and hair. Minerals also aid the digestiveprocesses and enable the other foods to do their best work in nourishing
the body. Spinach and Swiss chard are the most valuable cooked vegetables because of their high mineral content. Then come cabbage, cauliflower, string beans, asparagus, carrots, beets, turnips, onions, and squash. All vegetables should be cooked in small quantities of water so that, by the time the vegetable is tender, most of the water will have been absorbed. Some valuable minerals dissolve out into the water, and are wasted when the vegetables are drained.Whole wheat bread contains outer coatings of the wheat kernel in which are found both mineral and cellulose.
These are lost when white bread is used, because the outer coatings of the kernel are all removed during the manufacture of white flour. If the habit of eating white bread is firmly entrenched, try eating whole wheat at one meal during the day. A taste for it is soon acquired. Oatmeal and other whole grain breakfast cereals are beneficial along the same lines as whole wheat bread.Drink plenty of water when you got up in the morning and frequently during the day. It aids digestionand elimination of waste materials.
It is as important to provide the body with water for an internal bath as it is for an external one.Drink milk. Eat foods made with milk. Eat raw and cooked fruits and vegetables. Eat whole wheat bread.
Drink seven or eight glasses of water each day. Select the other foods according to the dictates of your appetite. These are signposts along the high road of health through intelligent eating.—K. C. tSar.Millarde Director "Governor's Lady" From Belasco PlayThe screen version of David Belasco's stage success, "The Governor's Lady", has been made into a special production for William Fox by Harry Millarde, the man who made "Over the Hill", and "If Winter Comes."
On the stage the play was a tremendous success and enjoyed an unusually long run."The Governor's Lady," from the pen of Alice Bradley, is a powerful story, dealing with all the romantic growth of a man who completes his education through his work and contact with big people. His wife is slow in adapting herself to his rapid development. This situation brings out a series of intensely dramatic incidents that have been presented forcefully in the picture.The story is one that has its parallel in real life, not only in political circles but in the lives of big business executives and professional men. "Its fidelity to life is photographic," said the critics, following the Broadway production of the play. The same was said and written when the production went on the road.

The cast includes Robert T. Haines

in the role of the Governor and Jane Grey in the title role. Other principals are Ann Luther, Frazer Coulter and Leslie Austen. "The Governor's Lady" comes to the Malone Theatre Friday.Nobody in Washington understands why Senators Johnson and Reed are nursing presidential dreams. Neither infant has the slightest chance to grow out of long clothes, or if either has that chance nobody in Washington knows anything about it. The Senate in session resembles a mass meeting of presidential candidates.
There are four Senators—Underwood, Reed, Johnson and Glass—avowedly running, and three others supposed to have the bee in their bonnets. Of these last at least one, Senator La Follette, is likely to lead a third party. Of the other two, Senators Copeland and Walsh, the former at least is known to have his lightning rod up in the quiet confidence that Jove can hardly find anything else to shoot at. Like Senators Reed and Johnson, Senator Copeland, who is from New York, has the support of Hearst. It is supposed that in this, as usual, Hearst is following his custom here of working not merely both sides of the street but the street car track.—

"Taste the Difference"

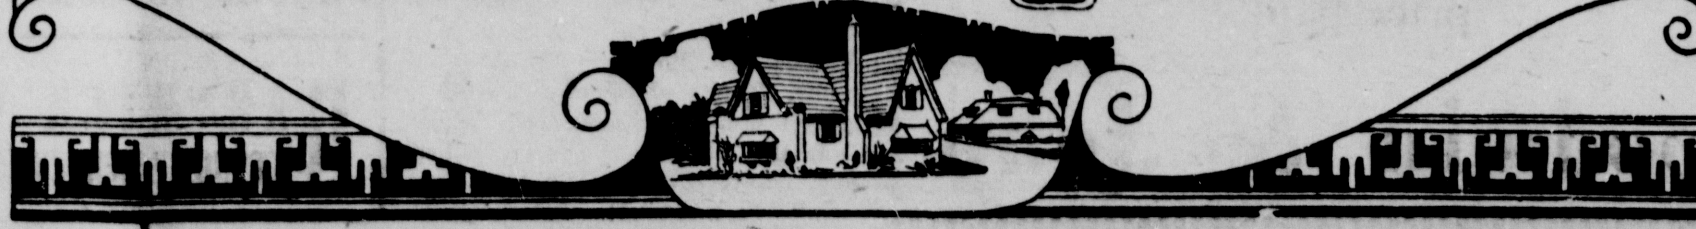

The more people there are in Sikeston who own their own homes, the better place this will be in which to live. In any home-owning community, property values increase, living conditions improve and the entire district advances, for home-owners take a personal interest and pride in keeping their homes neat and attractive. Hence we feel that the Standard is supporting a movement that is of interest to every resident and property owner in Sikeston, when we editorially ask every home owner to try and influence at least one of their friends who is not a home owner to become one.

It will mean increased prosperity for all. It will create new business. It will stabilize and increase the efficiency of those who must labor for a living and it will be advantageous to those whose investment interests are centered here.

So, let us all join hands and make this a community of home owners—a city of homes.

Fox Favorite Is Seen as Pugnacious Pugilist in "Big Dan"

Social peculiarities and fistic muscularities furnish Charles Jones' most recent William Fox production, "Big Dan" with a speedometer whose average register breaks even that lightning star's record for speed. It is announced as the feature attraction of the Malone Theatre Saturday.

Nothing seems more appropriate than a ringside background for Chas. Jones. The tall, broad and square-jawed star seems to fit adequately a pugilistic setting. This is provided for him in "Big Dan", whose titular role he takes modestly.

Dan receives a patrimony of a gymnasium and a training camp, all the worldly possessions left behind by his famous pugilist father. Upon returning from service in France, Dan finds that his wife has deserted him. He transforms his country training camp into an outdoor school for boys. Tired of coaching prize-fighters, he remains at his training camp, drowning his sorrow in work. He does not hear from his wife, Nellie.

Through a gruesome tragedy he meets a young, distressed girl. He falls in love with her, but is prevented from declaring himself because of his unfortunate marital experience. "Cyclone" a typically hard-boiled lesser light in fightdom, prevails on Dan to train him for a big fight. Dan assents and is furious, later, when he finds "Cyclone" making love to Dora, under whose love he lives. Dan and "Cyclone" finally meet in the ring and one of the fastest and most thrilling battles ever seen on the screen ensues.

The cast of this unique Charles Jones production includes Marion Nixon, Ben Hendricks, Trilby Clark, Jackie Gadsdon, Charles Coleman, Harry Lonsdale, J. P. Lockney and Jack Herrick.

Mr. Lehman, of Lehman-Foster Co. Co., returned Sunday night from St. Louis, where he had been on business for the store.

Texas Lady Says Her Family Has Been Taking Thedford's Black-Draught, When Needed, for Many Years.

Alto, Texas.—"We inherited the use of Black-Draught in our family," says Mrs. Mary Shuptrine, who lives near here on R. F. D. 2. "My grandmother was an old woman when she died about ten years ago, and she had been using it literally ever since I can remember. She gave it to her children and grandchildren for biliousness and stomach complaints, so when I went to housekeeping we just naturally used it, too."

"I give it to my children for a purgative whenever they need one, and we are never without it. Made into tea, it surely is fine. It's the best home remedy for headache and constipation I know of."

During over 80 years of its continued popularity, Black-Draught has become the standard liver medicine in many thousands of homes, where it has been found of great benefit in the treatment of constipation, biliousness, indigestion and other common liver, stomach and bowel complaints. Ten million packages of Black-Draught are now sold a year, as more and more people are learning of the value of this well-known remedy.

Insist on Thedford's, the only genuine Black-Draught powdered liver medicine. At all dealers'. NC-154

REINDEER TO BE CROSSED WITH WILD ALASKAN CARIBOU

There are probably about 250,000 reindeer in Alaska, and it is expected that the reindeer herds will become the basis of an important future industry of the Territory. The Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture has undertaken to encourage the industry by studying the diseases of the reindeer, food and range problems, methods of handling, and particularly the improvement of the herds in size, vigor, and meat producing qualities.

The Biological Survey, Olaus J. Murie, has spent the past three years investigating the caribou herds in northern Alaska, with a view to locating the large-sized caribou in order to capture bulls for crossing with the reindeer. As reindeer are, in fact, domesticated caribou, it is expected that herds can be greatly strengthened in this way.

In addition to studies of the caribou, Mr. Murie has made investigations of wild game conditions and of conditions pertaining to land fur-bearing animals. He has made trips by dog sled inland, covering country through which few white men have been, often accompanied by only one assistant. He is preparing a report on the results of his investigations, which will be of interest to those connected with the growing reindeer industry.

Georgia is to have an extension forester, according to word received by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture. The man selected by the College of Agriculture for the position is Due Pre Barrett, who for the past three years has been a teacher in the forest school at the college, in charge of the subjects of logging and utilization. Mr. Barrett will begin his new duties July 1.

The important part the 17 national forests in California play in the recreational activities and outdoor life of that State is emphatically illustrated by the fact that these Federal-owned forests were used by 4,336,700 persons during 1923, announces the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture. These figures are based on careful estimates and checks made by more than 1000 forest rangers and other Federal officials in co-operation with automobile associations, railroads, stage companies, and hotel managers.

An outbreak of rabies among coyotes, bobcats and dogs exists in Colorado, on the southern end of the San Isabel Forest and adjacent areas. This is the first time the diseases has made its appearance in the State since the inauguration of predatory animal control and eradication work. Up to the middle of January approximately $4000 worth of livestock has been killed in this section from attacks of rabid predatory animals or dogs and four persons have been bitten. To check the spread of the disease a systematic eradication campaign against all predatory animals and stray dogs is being carried out by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with State and local organizations. Three hunters and one biological assistant have been placed in this area and more hunters will be added if necessary. A fourth hunter has been detailed to prevent the spread of the disease eastward to Pueblo.

Forty-two per cent of the farmers feel that their financial difficulties are due to low prices of farm products, the United States Department of Agriculture says. Seventeen per cent attribute their condition to high taxes; 11 per cent to high costs for farm labor; 10 per cent to high freight rates; 10 per cent to high interest rates; 6 per cent to reckless expenditures during the boom period; and 4 per cent to too much credit.

Hours for Sale and You Can Have Them

How often have you seen women who lost themselves in the routine of housework until they were complete strangers to the thoughts of those about them? The world has passed them by; their families have grown up only to grow away. They need time—time to remain the companion of the husband and the "pal" of the children. And Time is exactly what our laundry offers. It does more than the mere washing of clothes—it brings new hours, new days, new leisure in which to really live.

The laundry is not only a time saver—it saves fatigue and worry, too. And more than 2,000,000 women testify to its reliability and the high quality of its work. To every home is offered a service suited to its needs and its income; for every woman washday hours can be largely or entirely eliminated. And these hours saved from housekeeping can be more wisely invested in home-making.

Our laundry has "Hours for Sale"—and you can have them.
